

2016 STYMIE SYRAH

The grapes used to craft the Stymie Syrah are sourced from Jacobsen vineyard in Kelseyville. The wine is aged for 22 months prior to bottling. The concentrated fruit flavors, smoky undertones and lingering finish make this wine enjoyable now, but it will continue to improve for another 10 years.

2016 STYMIE SYRAH

The grapes used to craft the Stymie Syrah are sourced from Jacobsen vineyard in Kelseyville. The wine is aged for 22 months prior to bottling. The concentrated fruit flavors, smoky undertones and lingering finish make this wine enjoyable now, but it will continue to improve for another 10 years.

2016 STYMIE SYRAH

The grapes used to craft the Stymie Syrah are sourced from Jacobsen vineyard in Kelseyville. The wine is aged for 22 months prior to bottling. The concentrated fruit flavors, smoky undertones and lingering finish make this wine enjoyable now, but it will continue to improve for another 10 years.

2016 STYMIE SYRAH

The grapes used to craft the Stymie Syrah are sourced from Jacobsen vineyard in Kelseyville. The wine is aged for 22 months prior to bottling. The concentrated fruit flavors, smoky undertones and lingering finish make this wine enjoyable now, but it will continue to improve for another 10 years.

2016 STYMIE SYRAH

The grapes used to craft the Stymie Syrah are sourced from Jacobsen vineyard in Kelseyville. The wine is aged for 22 months prior to bottling. The concentrated fruit flavors, smoky undertones and lingering finish make this wine enjoyable now, but it will continue to improve for another 10 years.

2016 STYMIE SYRAH

The grapes used to craft the Stymie Syrah are sourced from Jacobsen vineyard in Kelseyville. The wine is aged for 22 months prior to bottling. The concentrated fruit flavors, smoky undertones and lingering finish make this wine enjoyable now, but it will continue to improve for another 10 years.